Ad Strength Continues, Along w/Heavy Infra Capex & Lack of Visibility Into AI Product Pipeline; Downgrade to Neutral w/$725PT

We're downgrading Meta shares from Overweight to Neutral and reducing our PT from $825 to $725. While we're encouraged by META's +33% Y/Y revenue growth which has been supported by AI-driven ad stack optimizations, accelerating impression growth, & engagement gains, we believe full-stack AI competition is intensifying and Meta has a more challenging path to returns on heavy AI capex beyond advertising. Most notably, Google and Amazon are seeing strong Cloud revenue acceleration w/Google Cloud backlog almost doubling Q/Q & AWS backlog increasing +50% Q/Q. We believe both provide line of sight toward multi-year ROIC across AI capex as GOOGL & AMZN benefit from deep enterprise tech stack integrations, silicon supply, & model diversity. META raised the 2026 capex guide $10B to $125B-$145B & we now project capex growth of +42% to $202B in 2027, resulting in negative FCF of -$4B in 2026 & -$24B in 2027. More near-term, META will continue to optimize AI-driven ad ranking/recommendation & tech gains, grow engagement, and deliver strong revenue growth. However, revenue growth will likely decelerate through 2026 driven by tougher Y/Y comps, Middle East conflict headwinds, Europe LPA implementation, & FX. For now, we're moving to Neutral-rated & believe shares could remain pressured as investors look for greater clarity on agentic products and how Muse models will help drive incremental revenue beyond advertising. Our $725 PT is based on 21x 2027E GAAP EPS of $34.01.

THOUGHTS AFTER CALLS WITH MANAGEMENT

- Muse Spark a Strong First Step, But Product Roadmap Visibility Remains Limited. The release of Muse Spark represents the first step towards META's goal of pushing the frontier & delivering personal superintelligence to billions of users, w/the MSL team already training more advanced models. The rollout of Muse to Meta AI drove +DD% increases in Meta AI sessions per user & Muse demonstrates strong capabilities across visual understanding, health, shopping, social content, creating games, & more. While Meta AI currently represents a powerful AI assistant, META is focused on building personal & business agents that can take action to help consumers & businesses achieve their goals. With an early product currently in testing, weekly conversations with Business AIs reached 10M in 1Q, +10x from the beginning of the year, & META plans to expand access & capabilities in 2Q. While META is keeping the rest of its AI product roadmap under wraps, management believes that Muse unlocks the product teams to move from prototyping ideas to building & scaling them, with more to come over the coming quarters. META believes compute capacity is critical to determining the quality of models & products it can develop, & META increased the full year capex guide by $10B to $125B-$145B largely due to higher component costs, including for memory. Overall,

Summary Investment Thesis and Valuation

Investment Thesis

We believe Meta's virtual ownership of the social graph, strong competitive moat, and focus on the user experience position it to become an enduring blue-chip company built for the long term. Meta reach and engagement continue to drive network effects, and its targeting abilities provide significant value to advertisers. META is delivering significant AI-driven ad ranking & recommendation gains, supporting greater engagement, ROAS, & revenue growth. However, we are moving to Neutral-rated as AI monetization remains less proven vs. Internet peers and heavy capex drives multi-year FCF declines. We look for updates across AI execution, model launches & efficacy, & agentic product rollout. We lower our December 2026 PT from $825 to $725 based on ~21x our 2027E GAAP EPS of $34.01 further supported by our DCF model.

we look for greater clarity into the path to returns on AI spend beyond the core ad business, & believe building, iterating, scaling, & monetizing new products & experiences will take time.

- Strength Across Ad Monetization & Engagement. AI-driven engagement & monetization improvements continue to support strong top-line growth. Video in particular fueled record engagement across FB & IG in 1Q as ranking improvements drove +8%+ increase in total video time spent on FB & +10% increase in time spent on IG Reels. On the monetization side, enhancements to GEM & Lattice, as well as expanded rollout of META's new Adaptive Ranking Model, delivered strong performance gains in 1Q. META continues to simplify campaign creation & management for advertisers, w/8M+ advertisers using at least one Gen AI creative tool & strong adoption of META's Value Optimization suite ($20B ARR). META sees continued headroom in AI-driven ad & engagement improvements as it continues to scale up & enhance recommendation models while incorporating LLMs to deepen content understanding & personalization. Longer term, META is focused on developing the next generation of content & ads recommendation systems powered by foundation models, which it plans to validate in 2026 before scaling out in the coming years.
- Other Notable Points. 1) META saw a reduction in ad spend coinciding with the start of the war in Iran, w/the Middle East most impacted but some softness in the US & Western Europe as well. The impact has continued into 2Q, though META is seeing improving trends in April, & the 2Q guide factors in a range of scenarios; 2) META began rolling out LPAs in Europe in 1Q & believes the impact to revenues will be larger in 2Q as it represents the first full quarter of the offering, though META will continue to appeal the EC's decision; 3) AI glasses continue to perform well w/daily users tripling Y/Y in 1Q; 4) META confirmed plans to reduce headcount in May, though 2026 savings will likely be offset by restructuring costs & cloud deals, & META maintained the full year Operating Expense guide of $162B-$169B.

Investment Thesis, Valuation and Risks

Meta Platforms Inc (Neutral; Price Target: $725.00)

Investment Thesis

We believe Meta's virtual ownership of the social graph, strong competitive moat, and focus on the user experience position it to become an enduring blue-chip company built for the long term. Meta reach and engagement continue to drive network effects, and its targeting abilities provide significant value to advertisers. META is delivering significant AI-driven ad ranking & recommendation gains, supporting greater engagement, ROAS, & revenue growth. However, we are moving to Neutral-rated as AI monetization remains less proven vs. Internet peers and heavy capex drives multi-year FCF declines. We look for updates across AI execution, model launches & efficacy, & agentic product rollout. We lower our December 2026 PT from $825 to $725 based on ~21x our 2027E GAAP EPS of $34.01 further supported by our DCF model.

Valuation

We lower our December 2026 PT from $825 to $725 based on ~21x our 2027E GAAP EPS of $34.01 further supported by our DCF model. We apply a premium to the SPX as we have greater confidence in Meta's strong top-line growth and ongoing cost efficiencies. We use this valuation approach as we believe it appropriately balances Meta's valuation relative to its growth and industry peers. Our DCF results in an estimated value of $725 per share and employs a ~14% WACC and a +10% terminal growth rate.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

Upside risks include: 1) AI Ad initiatives drive engagement, revenue growth, & monetization; 2) Muse Spark & MSL model launches resonate and drive model efficacy, user growth, & engagement; 3) ROAS gains drive greater ad spend and market share gains, supporting revenue growth; & 4) Investments ease & cost discipline drives greater than expected GAAP EPS & FCF.

Downside risks include: 1) AI investments are heavy & monetization lags, which weighs on GAAP OI, GAAP EPS, & FCF; 2) slower than expected revenue growth limits AI monetization upside; 3) AI product & model launches do not resonate, weighing on engagement, revenue, & margins; 4) competition for online and mobile ad dollars from Google, TikTok, OpenAI, and other online advertising companies; & 5) regulatory litigations & charges.

J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:

J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, <https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com>.
